

ANOTHER WOMAN ONCE YERKES' IDOL

Wife of Danish Musician
Was the Fascinator.

LOVED ALL THE WOMEN

Man Who Knew Him Well Believes His Relations With Them Were Often Platonic.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—And yet another woman—a married woman—has been discovered who trod "the primrose path of dalliance" with Charles T. Yerkes. This was ten years ago, and for three years she was a source of relaxation if not the idol of his heart. The attachment disrupted a family and shattered the ideals of a famous artist, who abandoned the country soon after.

The woman was a Mrs. Anna Hylsted, wife of H. Hylsted, an accomplished musician artist. The Hylsteds were Danes. They came to this country in the later 80's and made their home in this city.

Mrs. Hylsted was young, voluptuous, and charming over with health and spirit. Hylsted was long hair, possessed the artistic temperament, and was eccentric. He cared nothing for the frivolities of life. Serious and studious, he was a dull companion for his pleasure-loving wife, who liked lively company and had a weakness for late hours.

She Fascinated Yerkes.

Finally the paths of Yerkes and Mrs. Hylsted crossed, and Yerkes became deeply interested in her. Her vivacity, physical charm, and animal spirits attracted him. Soon it came to the husband's ears, and there was a separation. Yerkes took care of the woman in his usual princely way. She was installed in a luxurious apartment on the north side and Hylsted took bachelor apartments in the Pullman building. After a while he obtained divorce, but the name of Yerkes did not appear as co-respondent. The grounds named were desertion and incompatibility.

Later Hylsted disappeared, and it was said he had returned to Europe. This was five years ago. Soon afterward Mrs. Hylsted sailed for Copenhagen and passed out of the life of Yerkes. It was said that a monetary consideration had induced her to leave for her native land.

Liked Women and Children.

J. V. Helm, for thirteen years secretary of the North Division railroad, with a desk most of this time in an adjoining room to Yerkes, said today:

"If the character of Yerkes could be analyzed like a ore, I am sure it would assay higher than that of the average man. It is true he had a weakness for women. Many times I have heard him say, 'God bless the girls. But he also loved children. I remember one time in the Pennsylvania station in Philadelphia he spoiled a little girl of ten waiting for some one and holding a bundle. 'Isn't she a lovely picture?' he said. He spoke to her and patted her on the head and gave her a nickel."

"I believe many of his relations with women were platonic. He liked to have them around him. For years he lived in Chicago he and Mrs. Yerkes were like a pair of lovers. He always carried her photograph in his pocket, and he had another on his desk. She was a Mary Adelaide Moore, and her father was for years an expert chemist for Powers & Wright, in Philadelphia. His first wife was Susan Sams, of Philadelphia. They appear to have been an ill-assorted pair."

"Bundle of Contradictions."

"He was a bundle of contradictions in many ways. When he went to prison Robert Laughlin, who was his friend and business partner, paid Mrs. Yerkes $100 a month and went to see Yerkes in prison as often as the rules would admit, carrying him delicacies and cheering him up with pictures of a bright future."

"Finally Yerkes came to Chicago and became a millionaire, while Laughlin struck the toboggan to bankruptcy in Philadelphia. He came to Chicago and Yerkes made him vice president of one of his traction lines. It was a situation that offered a good living. Then Laughlin got into an entanglement with a woman and Yerkes summoned him. After confessing his faults and admitting he was wrong Yerkes discharged him, and he left the city a broken man."

"I never saw the Grizzly girl but once. She came here on a visit seven years ago, and I think came into the office with Mrs. Yerkes. A piano manufacturer whom I met on one of my trips to New York told me that some manufacturer, I forget whom, had delivered an $8,000 piano to Miss Grizzly on Yerkes' order. He said, 'No piano costs that much.' He said it was specially constructed, inlaid with mother-of-pearl, and artists were brought from Europe to design and decorate it."

"He Was Easy."

"Yerkes was pestered by women all the time he was in Chicago. He was easy for charity workers, but under the guise of charity many with other plans and schemes, came down on him. For years when he was in command of the traction situation here he paid all his men who were ill or injured one-third of their regular salary."

"Mrs. Yerkes was equally charitable, but she grew to dislike Chicago so that she would not live there. It was then the house on Fifth avenue was built. She took possession of it five years before her husband left Chicago. He made frequent trips to New York, but I believe the culmination of the estrangement between the couple dates from the time Mrs. Yerkes went to New York. He did not smoke or drink and he was not a clubman. He cared nothing for books or amusements. He spent his leisure hours in planning out future work."

Dizzy Spells

That dizzy spell is an important message from the heart—a plea for help. If this message receives no attention others come: Shortness of breath, palpitation, weak or fainting spells, smothering or choking sensations, pains around the heart, in side or shoulders, and so on, until it receives the necessary help, or is compelled to give up—stop.

You may furnish this aid with

which cures heart disease in every stage. Every day we read of sudden deaths from heart disease, yet it is a fact that the heart had been pleading for help, and gave up the struggle only when it had exhausted the last spark of vitality—and they call it sudden.

"For more than six years I was troubled with my heart. I would have dizzy spells, then difficulty in breathing, choking sensations; my heart would flutter, become painful, I could not breathe lying down. I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and in a few weeks I was entirely cured."

ELLIOT DANFORTH SUDDENLY EXPIRES

Succumbs to Nervous Prostration in New York.

PROMINENT IN POLITICS

Deceased Was the Political Lieutenant of David B. Hill.

ELLIOT DANFORTH,
Great New York Leader Passed Away
in Metropolis Yesterday.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Elliot Danforth, former State treasurer and prominent in Democratic politics for many years, died yesterday at his home, 57 East Fifty-eighth street. Although his illness was generally known, his physicians had expressed hopes of his recovery, and news of his death came as a surprise.

Mr. Danforth, who was fifty-six years of age, was stricken with typhoid fever in Washington last spring, and his convalescence was slow. He went to Europe in May of his illness, remaining until October.

Had Nervous Affection.

Shortly afterward he was attacked with a nervous affection from which he did not rally. The patient sank rapidly yesterday, and Mrs. Danforth and her son, Dr. Edward Danforth, were summoned to the bedside. They were with Mr. Danforth when he died. Funeral services will be held at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The body will be placed in a vault in Greenwood Cemetery. Besides the widow and son, a daughter, Mrs. Edward L. Knight, survive him.

Mr. Danforth was the political lieutenant of David B. Hill, and had been a delegate to several national conventions. He was born in Middleburg, N. Y., on March 6, 1850. After being educated in the public schools he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1871. He removed to Bainbridge three years later, where he entered in a law partnership with G. H. Windsor, which continued until the latter's death in 1880. He learned politics in local halls and came into the public eye as a delegate to the National Democratic Convention of 1880 and 1884.

Elected Treasurer.

In 1885 he became deputy State treasurer, and in 1889 was elected treasurer, serving two terms. At the State election of 1898 he ran for lieutenant-governor on the ticket with Augustus Van Wyck and was defeated.

In December, 1898, Mr. Danforth took as his second wife Mrs. Richard Mott Laimbeer, a beautiful woman and wealthy, the daughter of the late James Black. Mr. Danforth had practiced law in this city since 1884.

HEBREWS GRATEFUL FOR HAY'S SUPPORT

Many Prominent Citizens Sign Memorial Sent to the Widow of the Deceased Statesman—Will Honor His Memory.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—That the Hebrews are grateful for anything done in their behalf is evidenced by the memorial signed by 2,363 of the leading Hebrews of the United States, which has just been sent to the widow of the late John Hay. Among other things it says: "In the pressure and stress of his busy day even the greatest benefactors of mankind are soon forgotten, but Israel, who has suffered through the long centuries, never fails to remember deeds of kindness and righteousness wrought in her behalf. Therefore, the Jewish prayer which sixty rabbis recited in Cleveland in honor of the memory of John Hay, on July 2, 1905, while his mortal remains were being borne to their resting place, will be permanently adopted by the synagogues both in this country and beyond the seas as a part of our divine service on our days of judgment and atonement, when, according to the teachings of our faith, the books of account are opened before the lord."

CLOUD OF GLOOM OVER DENVER HOME

Facts Kept From Mother of Albert T. Patrick.

FAMILY IS WEALTHY

Woman Came to Denver to Escape
From the Scene of Son's Disgrace.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 8.—Gloom has settled down over two Denver homes since the news came that Albert T. Patrick, convicted of having murdered William Marsh Rice, and condemned to die January 22, had been refused a reprieve by Governor Higgins, of New York.

In one of these homes is the mother of the condemned man, whose sister, Mrs. William B. Milliken, is guarding the news from the aged woman lest the physician's warning should prove true, and the shock of losing the last hope be fatal to her.

Mrs. Patrick came to Denver a few months ago to get away from the scene of her son's disgrace. She has been making her home with Mrs. Milliken and another daughter, Mrs. Leonidas Hill. Since her arrival everything published in the papers about the Patrick case has been kept from her. She has retained her health and spirits.

Patrick's children spent last summer in Denver with their grandmother and aunt. The husbands of Patrick's sisters are wealthy mining men, and their pockets have been wide open to assist him.

NAPOLEON'S LOVE LETTER BRINGS $625 IN BERLIN

Because Charles Robey would not consent to play a few games of "penny ante and 10-cent limit" with Arthur Campbell last night at an eating house in Georgetown, near Thirty-third and M streets, where the latter is said to be employed, Campbell got into an ugly mood, according to Robey's version of the affair, and wrote an angry letter of words, hit Robey in the head with a heavy soup bowl, inflicting a scalp wound. Robey went to the Georgetown University Hospital. Campbell made good his escape.

It is not explained how the document found its way to Berlin, where it has been purchased for $625. It is described as having been in the Meyer Cohen collection.

WEDDING OF APES.

MT. CARMEL, Ill., Jan. 8.—In the presence of a large company, including many prominent business men, Bismarck, a big ape, who has made his home at the Letta Hotel, married Miss Evolution, another of the same species. The bride arrived on the evening train, and was looking her best.

WOULD START AGITATION FOR BARBER SHOP REFORM

Chief Wiley of the Bureau of Chemistry Declares for Sanitary Tonsorial Establishment.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, is of the opinion that there should be a general "cleaning up" in a majority of the local barber shops, and that the matter should be agitated until some one starts a shop where a man can get a sanitary shave, without having several thousand bacilli crawling over his face.

In discussing the subject, Dr. Wiley said: "I do not know of a single barber shop in this city which is conducted on a hygienic basis. I have to keep a complete kit of my barbers in order to be shaved under conditions that are hardly more than tolerable."

"None of the shops I know of make any pretense of sterilizing any of the instruments they use, and the only cleaning a razor gets in this city is a wipe on a towel with a questionable record."

"Every time a razor, a strop, a shaving brush, or any of the other numerous incidentals of a shop are used they should be sterilized. If the barber does not do it in the most approved way he can get almost the same results by using hot air. Air heated to 100 degrees will kill any germs which get on the articles and render them in a condition to be used without danger to the man in the chair."

"Almost every other city of any size has at least one hygienic shop, and in New York and other places there are several of them. In these shops all instruments are cleaned in the most approved manner."

"Just think of using the same strop for razors which have been on thousands of faces without sterilizing it," concluded Dr. Wiley.

WOULD NOT PLAY POKER: GOT SOUP BOWL IN HEAD

Because Charles Robey would not consent to play a few games of "penny ante and 10-cent limit" with Arthur Campbell last night at an eating house in Georgetown, near Thirty-third and M streets, where the latter is said to be employed, Campbell got into an ugly mood, according to Robey's version of the affair, and wrote an angry letter of words, hit Robey in the head with a heavy soup bowl, inflicting a scalp wound. RICHMOND PEARSON SUES HOME CITY

Action Brought Against Town of Asheville.

NOW MINISTER TO PERSIA

Gave Community a Lot Which He Now
Demands Back With Costs.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Jan. 8.—Richmond Pearson, the United States minister to Persia, with his wife as co-plaintiff, has through his attorney, W. R. Whitson, filed suit against the city of Asheville.

Mr. Pearson owns considerable property in the vicinity of Market square, this city. He claims that about five years ago, before he left here to become minister to Persia, he made an agreement by which he should donate to the city a lot on the south side of Eagle street, on condition that the city cleaned up Market square, which was then in a rather dilapidated condition, and made various other improvements, which would enhance the value of his remaining property in that locality. A deed was left by which the city gained the title to the property as soon as the improvements were made.

Mr. Pearson now alleges that the city has failed in its obligation, and the changes agreed upon have not been made. Since the agreement was made the city has built, upon the lot, a tool-house, that, worse still, has been used as a place for the city's garbage, and the city has practically in its possession the property which was to be used for the city's tool-house. Mr. Pearson is suing for damages, the rents due for the use of the property, and the cost of the improvements he has made on the property, and for the return of his land.

INTERESTING FACTS

For Nearly Every Man, Woman or Child.

A short time ago we published an article recommending to our readers, the new discovery for the cure of Dyspepsia, called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the claim then made regarding the wonderful curative properties of the remedy have been abundantly sustained by the facts. People who were cautious about trying new remedies advertised in the newspapers and were finally induced to give Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial were everlastingly delighted at the results. In many cases a single package costing but 50 cents at any drug store made a complete cure and in every instance the most beneficial results were reported. From a hundred or more received we have space to publish only a few of the latest but assure our readers we receive so many commendatory letters that we shall publish each week a fresh list of genuine, unsolicited testimonials and never publish the same one twice.

From James Kennedy, LaCrosse, Wis.: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are doing me more good than anything I have tried and I was so pleased at receiving them that I gave away several boxes to my friends who have also had the same benefit.

From Jacob Anthony, Portmurray, New Jersey: I have taken Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with the best results. I had Dyspepsia for 6 years, and had taken a great deal of medicine, but the Tablets seem to take right a hold and I feel good. I am a farmer and lime burner and I heartily recommend to everyone who has any trouble with his stomach to take these Tablets.

From Mrs. M. K. West, Preston, Minn.: I have received surprisingly good effects from using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I am one-half of my last box to a friend who also suffered from indigestion and she had the same good results.

From Mrs. Agnes K. Raiston, Cadillac, Mich.: I have been taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and I am very much better, and feel very grateful for the great benefit I have received in so short a time.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a certain cure for all forms of indigestion. They are not claimed to be a cure-all, but are prepared for stomach troubles only, and physicians and druggists everywhere recommend them to all persons suffering from Nervous Dyspepsia, sour or acid stomach, heartburn, bloating or wind on stomach and similar disorders.
